

Images of Dragons - Sounds of Fire Breathing Horses

Introducing the performativity of sounds and rhythms to Guattareuze > at the border between knowing and the unknown, which these three dissimilar daughters of chaos all share

Arts needs to > stumble

Philosophy > Stammering

Science > Getting Lost

»We ask only that our ideas are linked together according to a minimum of constant rules. All that the association of ideas has ever meant is providing us with these protective rules - resemblance, contiguity, causality - which enable us to put some order into ideas, preventing our „fantasy“ (delirium, madness) from crossing the universe in an instant, producing winged horses and dragons breathing fire.«

---

Deleuze, Gilles & Guattari, Félix

